

Crotch

The interior space where two stokes meet.

Stroke

Any line that defines the basic letterform.

Apex

The top of the point created in the connecting of two diagonal stems.

Terminal

The self-contained finish of a stroke without a serif. Terminals may be flat, flared, acute, grave, concave, convex or rounded.

Stem

The significant vertical or oblique stroke.

Vertex

The bottom of the point created in by the joining of two diagonal stems.

LINK

The stroke that connects the bowl and the loop of the lowercase g.

LOOP

In some cases, the bowl created in the descender of the lowercase g.

